Community Dance Big Success

Despite decidedly unfavorable weather conditions the Farmers' Community dance on Friday evening, March 4th, was an unqualified success in every way. The crowd filled Mark's hall, the music was excellent, the lunch appetizing, and the work of the committees had been so thorough that everything went off without a hitch. The success achieved is very creditable to who evolved the "community" idea and carried it to such a successful conclusion. Fred Clever's orchestra, consisting of F. Clever, piano, B. Hummel, violin, assisted in this instance by L. Haribut, cornet, and Len Carter, drummer, of Carmanagay, provided music beyond the keenest criticism and everything was as merry as a marriage bell. It is understood this type of community festival is as yet only in its infancy and that repetitions are planned for the near future.

Are you interested in the weather? Nearly every day in Western Canada is vitally interested in weather conditions. Each week Foster's weather forecast appears in the Saturday issue of the Calgary Daily Herald. Many people gauge their business and agricultural activities by Foster. His short breezy comments on crop prospects are generally correct. His weather reports are standard on the North American Continent. This is only one of the many valuable services you get with your year's subscription to The Calgary Daily Herald. Order from your nearest news-dealer, direct from the publishers or the following local agents: G. A. Orr, Champion, F. W. Hunt, Nobleford.

Harmony Council Holds Meeting

The council of the Municipal District of Harmony met for the first time after the elections on Monday afternoon, in Campbell's hall. All the councillors were present. P. M. Patterson was re-elected reeve and Percy Watson, secretary-treasurer for the ensuing year. A number of bills were passed and ordered paid and other routine business received attention. The question of supplying seed grain should have been taken up at this meeting but was not taken up owing to the action of the provincial government in declining to endorse further notes for the municipal districts for seed grain, as was done last year. The result is to leave the entire onus on the district and is going to make the supplying of seed grain a very difficult matter, the issue of debentures being the only available way of securing the necessary funds. While there are but very few applicants showing up, due in almost every instance to loss by hail last year, the problem is still a serious one.

Travellers alighting at the depot here from the night trains are said to have difficulty negotiating the steps leading down from the O. P. R. platform, and more than one has fallen, suffering more or less painful injuries. It is suggested the company should supply a light for this particular spot, as being on their property it is outside the jurisdiction of the village.

Snow has fallen recently in considerable quantities and should provide ample moisture for starting the crop in the spring. Wednesday's storm furnished a considerable addition to what had already fallen.

Geo. Harper and son, of Palouse, Wash., arrived in town on Thursday morning's train.

NOTES AND COMMENT

President Wilson vetoed the Foreney emergency tariff bill and an attempt to pass it over his veto failed in congress.

Sir Arthur Borden, the new British minister of agriculture, was defeated by the labor candidate when he sought election, the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle being the big factor in the result.

The allies are demanding fifty-five billion dollars in reparation from Germany, and the Germans are offering a little over seven billions. With such a difference it may well appear that there is little prospect of an agreement being reached without the armed intervention on the part of the allies which is threatened.

A revolution against Bolshevism is in progress in Russia and has reached considerable proportions, although the soviet government has too many troops under its control to permit of any great success. It may well be, however, the beginning of the end of the most vicious abuse of power the modern world has ever seen.

The trustees of Saskatchewan in convention at Regina have requested the provincial government to submit the question of the abolishing of separate schools and the adoption of English as the sole language in the primary schools to a referendum. The basis for the request is that there should be no favors to any class or sect in educational matters.

The wood train has come and gone. The audience secured here must have been thoroughly satisfactory to everyone concerned, as the capacity of the cars were tested to the limit. The amount of benefit that will be realized by the community at large naturally depends largely on the spirit in which the information furnished is utilized by those who absorbed it. It is many who attended would be disappointed in their expectations as to the extent of the help the staff of the train could supply to assist in the campaign against weeds and other farm pests may be taken for granted without enquiry. Others are satisfied they received good value for the time spent and will make an effort to utilize the knowledge gained.

One objection to the presence of the weed train was advanced, viz that it was an advertisement of the district of absolutely the wrong kind and would drive investors away from here, seems to be unfounded. If anything would tend to lower the price of land in this vicinity the weeds themselves should be much more effective than the discussing of means for their eradication, and the man who is foolish enough to figure present conditions favorable to inducing interest on the part of investors without the probability of a general campaign against existing conditions will find himself in a hopeless minority.

The jobs held by the men in charge of the train were frequently sized up "soft." This is also open to doubt. Even with the staff on hand when the train visited here there appears to be reason to believe that two meetings every day such as was held here would not be as soft a proposition as some would infer. Most of the day's light would be gone before the day's work was over, and many people would prefer some less obvious job than delivering six or eight addresses every day.

The Secretary of the Horse Association of the United States, reports that they are using coats to plough with in Germany. Owing to heavy losses in the war and practical discontinuance of breeding in order to save food, the work stock of horses in that country, has been almost entirely destroyed. Men, women, boys and girls, are turning over the sod with spades or hitching up any kind of live stock they may happen to have. Census surveys indicate a need of half a million mares but they have no gold with which to buy them and cannot get any long time credit.

A teachers' strike is threatened in Calgary which in the end is bound to benefit nobody. According to Hon. Geo. P. Smith, minister of education the Alberta is the cause of the trouble, having gone out of its way to incite trouble. Others are of the opinion that the attitude of the minister towards the alliance is the cause of the present situation in Calgary. The school board has decided to let the teacher's strike if they insist upon it, an attitude that will be generally appreciated throughout the country, for the reason that arbitrary demands for increases in salaries and wages at the present time and under present conditions must be resisted if the country is to avoid bankruptcy, and there is practically no limit to the increases that will be asked for. Labor supports the teachers for the simple reason that labor is looking for every possible means to avoid the reduction of wages that were increased to correspond with the increased cost of living during the war. This is not a period of inflation but of deflation.

Carling is reported in progress at a number of points no more favorably situated than we are. What is the matter with Champion?

The allied troops have occupied towns in Germany for the purpose of enforcing payment of war indemnities which Germany protests strongly against paying to the tune the allies insist upon.

The standardization of farm implements is occupying the attention of the standing committee on agriculture in the house of commons at Ottawa.

If such a thing should be effected it would mean the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers of this country in repairs alone, not to mention first cost. The repairs furnished by the implement concerns have no relation to their original cost in the price dealers and farmers are asked to pay.

The provincial government admits a profit of $800,000 from liquor sales in 1920, and the government is only a lifting participant in the profits accruing from the sale of liquor.

Midwinter Sorrow

(By Walt Matson)

Alas, there's trouble everywhere, according to the daily news, and countless cupboards now are bare of pumpkin pies and oyster stew, and children wail and tear their hair because they haven't any shoes. And we might preach to those who lack the plian that human critics need, reminding them that now, some months back they cut a gorgeous swath, indeed, and how we urged them then to pack in brine the kopeck and the need. But preaching is an empty graft when human inroads maully echo there always is a mighty raft of ermons when kids call for cake, when poor folks yearn to sit afloat a large and luscious sirloin steak. And we'll brighten up the lives of those who walk knee deep in woe, and stake the poor gentle and their wives from our abundant stock of dough the Christmas spirit still thrives in all of us, we'd have you know. We'll spring our platitudes when next prosperity around is seen, when workmen are not perplexed by absence of the good long green; a pie is better than a text when meals are few and far between.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Peter, of The Gap, are visiting relatives in Champton and vicinity. They were accompanied here by Lyman Joyling, who has been on a visit to the ranch.

The Champton U. F. A. have decided to hold a celebration at Champton during the summer, preferably about July 1st, and a strong committee has been put in charge of the arrangements.

President Harding favors a temporary tariff for a period of a year until a permanent tariff can be worked out. Whether the temporary tariff he favors is on the lines of the notorious Fordney emergency tariff remains to be seen.

The Thorburn coal mine, which is being operated by Geo. Rhodes, will close down for a couple of months on Saturday night. The approach of seeding, and a shortage of coal orders owing to the very mild weather which has prevailed this winter are the causes. The mine will reopen in June.

The Canadian railway commissioners have decided they have no jurisdiction over the cartage rates charged by the railway companies. This may be taken as affording assurance that cartage rates will remain partially reasonable, a situation that would cease at once if the railway commissioners had any say in the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson were visitors in Lethbridge during the week.

Forty Guests At Farewell Party

On Tuesday evening, March 1st, a jolly evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Zemanek, when a party of their friends were present. The time was spent in dancing and playing cards. Refreshments were served in the evenings of the morning. The guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Zemanek success in the future in their new home at Big Valley, Alta., for which point they are leaving here.

Better Years Are Coming

It is pointed out by a weather expert that if cycles count for anything then we are due for increased moisture and good crops this season. The last four years have been the driest of any four year period for the last twenty years, and the change back to normal conditions is due to occur this year. In spite of such pleasant prognostications, however, it would appear to be desirable to provide for partial disappointment by putting in every acre of crop sown as though we were going to have another dry year. The result is very likely to prove more satisfactory if this is done and better conditions will prevail to insure a bumper crop for next year.

Suggestions Were Too Commonplace

To the majority of those who attended the lectures at the weed train the results were slightly disappointing, to say the least. While the items of greatest interest to the farmers of this district were discussed, the solution offered was not of the character expected or desired, in fact it might be said the only suggestion in the way of solution of the weed problem was the farming of smaller acreages better than is being done at present. Those most deeply interested had hoped for the presentation of methods and means of combatting the weed invasion with the force available on the farms at present, and the suggestion that only better cultivation will avail is not altogether pleasant or acceptable.

When Ignorance Is Bliss

A story was recently published in the Canadian Magazine which, if not altogether new to some readers, conveys a moral that may be beneficial to dairy farmers in a few rare instances.

One day, the writer avers, a woman who always used butter of her own making on her own table, one day discovered a dead mouse in the crock of cream. Not daunted, however, she did the usual churning and produced a fine looking roll of butter. But she couldn't eat it, though she knew the butter would satisfy any one who did not know about the mouse. She took it to the storekeeper, told him the truth, and asked whether he would exchange it for a roll from his cellar. "You know," she said, making a slight misquotation, "what the mind doesn't know, the heart won't grieve for."

"Oh that's all right!" replied the obliging storekeeper. "I'm glad to accommodate you."

He disappeared into the cellar, and a moment later reappeared with a roll of butter similar to the one he had taken down.

The woman thanked him and departed. A few days later she was in the store again.

"How did you like the butter I gave you the other day?" the storekeeper asked.

"It was just lovely," said the woman, "just lovely. I couldn't have told it from my own."

"Neither could I," said the storekeeper. "You know that what the mind doesn't know the heart doesn't grieve about. The butter WAS your own."

Three Score And Ten.

(Dictated by Capt. John E. Elliott, ferryman on the Skagit river, Hamilton, Wash., U.S.).

Three score and ten I am today, My course on earth has nearly run; How swift the years have slipped away

And, Oh, how little have I done, To fill the duties all men owe; The debts that everyone should pay, That I have sadly failed I know

And am three score and ten today, And now as memory glances back For seventy long and dreary years, And strives my course through life to track

With all its hopes, its doubts, its fears, How plain before my vision rise The spots where I have gone astray, I see them all and realize I am three score and ten today.

I feel that death is drawing near And I ere long must leave this earth, Perhaps to join some other sphere, For death may be my second birth;

If so without regret I leave, There's little here for which to stay, And musing thus I do not grieve I am three score and ten today.

For death may be endless rapture, Eternal rest from toil and strife, If so, who would not envy thee, Who leave this stormy life.

With toil and time my form is bent, My eyes are dim, my hair is grey, My life is sin and I fully spent Leaves me three score and ten day.

'Tis futile for a mortal man, To muse upon the hidden theme; For life and death are both the plan Of one we know to be supreme.

The breath he gave he takes again, He orders and we must obey, I've lived my span and don't complain, I am three score and ten today.

Once In Western Canada

THE people of a great city and its surrounding territory were unable to get their newspapers for a period extending over ten days.

THE business of that city was disorganized and almost came to a standstill,—the wildest and most improbable rumors were circulated owing to the fact that the community's source of reliable news was cut off. The newspapers had been forced to cease publication owing to shortage of white news print.

THIS condition existed about one year ago and emphasized beyond question the vital importance of the newspaper as a factor in modern life. You cannot live according to modern standards without a knowledge of what is happening in the world. Your newspaper brings that knowledge at a cost to you of less than the white paper the paper is printed on.

WITH its discussions of public questions—its great news gathering organizations—its many features and departments—THE CALGARY DAILY HERALD has achieved a high place among Canadian newspapers and is well worthy of a place in every Western Canadian home.

Rebellion Days, 1884-85

By O. G. MAS-ES (Little, Clerk).

(Copyright)

Next morning I was away bright and early and passed many deserted dwellings, especially as I reached the Lower Fall, which even at that date was a well-settled farming district. My thoughts were, if even the threat of war makes this desolation, what must it be like in a country where actual armies had passed and re-passed. I stopped for dinner at a fine looking farm house and the waitress here again supplied me with fresh eggs. Both mine and my little pony's appearance was tawny, muddy and tired. I staid for dinner at our long swim the night before. I was dressed in Indian's Bay style, wearing a duffle cap with hood, which I had up, the weather having turned cold. I had a Winchester rifle across my saddle and a large revolver in my holster, which with long staid leggings, made me look very much like I would imagine the South African Boers appeared.

On reaching the top of the hill, I struck the first pickets, who were two fine looking mounted policemen with their accoutrements polished and their fine horses groomed to a shine. The contrast was so great between them and myself that it annoyed me, and when they rode up and asked my business and destination, I gave a reply. My pony evidently felt like myself, and as one of them approached rather closely, he snatched at both heels with a snarl, much to my suppressed amusement. On we rode down the hill, my escort on each side, but keeping a goodly distance. On reaching Goodwin (H. B. C. Reserve) the police had a brick building for an outpost, and one of the riders caught up and told me in military tones that I must wait inspection by the officer in command. Out came the officers, when I threw back my hood and grunted, "Why," he said, "it is Mr. Bentley." Nothing would do but I must come in, I felt him the next moment have a refresher, which for I was stiff and sore with the long ride and exposure. The guards and mounted policemen at the result of their capture. I told the officer all I could think of in reference to the State of the north country, also that I had been sent to the Hon. Lawrence Clarke from Ft. La Corne. "How did you enjoy the river?" "I question," I "swam it," was my reply, and that meant another refresher.

Up to the Mission I rode, found Mr. Clarke's residence, and met himself smiling with much cordiality. He looked a broken man who was present at the Duck Lake fight and lost some close friends. He showed me some papers and he thanked both Goodwin and myself with tears in his eyes at the saving of so much valuable property.

Here an interlude was in order to show the great contrast between those days and our own. As I sat when you ask a man to do anything, the question is, "How much is there in it?" Later on at the close of the rebellion, I sent in my account for time served in the company's interests at Ft. La Corne. The amount was, I think, five or six days at $200 per day, and Goodwin's was only a trifle larger, for he put in a little more time. Some of my friends remarked, "What a fool you were B. and you and George might have been made your ple, and the government would have compensated the company just the same." But that was not the way business was done in the old H. B. days.

It was freely rumored that some prominent citizens obtained their part by foot secured in the opinion of representatives of Northern Boards.

After an interesting conversation with Mr. Clarke, he said, "I have a favor to ask. Will you be one of the guards round the old establishment tonight?" and to this I consented. "I appeared that Middleton was hourly expected to attack Batocle and if he had been repulsed, Prince Albert would have been attacked."

There was a jolly crowd on guard that night. A long table was set in a store which was loaded with solid and liquid refreshments, and though I felt tough enough, the night passed in a sure throat coming on, no doubt due to my drinking, so started back next morning for La Corne, repulsed by way of the Indians and where there were one or two men living, and I swam the pony back was crowded over with a canoe. On reaching Goodwin's I was greeted with a violent attack of quinsy which reached a dangerous stage for some days. I was convalescing, and a few of Middleton's friends and friends reached us, and there was much rejoicing. So away we went and reached the old establishment in the same order as our arrival. I found on reaching our own house that the Indians had been in, evidently friendly for through the woods and trails everywhere, nothing was touched, not even our seed potatoes.

H. B. Road Strongly Advocated

Western Boards of Trade Anxious to Have Hudson Bay Railway Completed.

The Pas, Man.—The matter of the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway was brought up at a conference of representatives of Northern Boards of Trade of Manitoba and Saskatchewan held here, when representatives attended from Saskatoon, Prince Albert, Regina, Moffett, Tisdale, Nokomis and Winnipeg.

Prof. R. C. Wallace, commissioner for Northern Manitoba, moved that the government be urged to take steps during the present session to arrange for the immediate completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

He felt that the delegation which he had waited on the government during the previous session had an effect and he thought could be followed by another delegation. He considered that not only the Boards of Trade but other western organizations should come forward in addition to advocacy of the line from the point of view of a wheat outlet. All possible data on the subject was gathered.

The motion was carried. Prof. Wallace moved that in the opinion of the conference the present resolution should be presented to the government by a delegation representing all Western Boards of Trade and other western organizations. The motion was seconded by Mr. Bell, Moffett, and carried. Mr. B. Bell moved that a committee consisting of a representative of The Board of Trade of J. S. Farley, Prince Albert, should attend the meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Saskatchewan to be held at Saskatoon on March 8, and discuss this matter. The meeting was presided over by G. R. Hanson, president of The Board of Trade.

Anglo-Japanese Alliance

Britain Not Bound to Aid Japan in a War With America.

London.—Replying in the House of Commons to a question by Frederick Hall as to whether the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance precluded the possibility of Great Britain being compelled to furnish assistance to Japan in the case of a conflict between that country and the United States, Cecil Horsburgh, under secretary for foreign affairs, said that British relations with Japan had no implied conditions, and that Great Britain would not be involved in such a struggle.

Mr. Horsburgh further asked whether assurances of this state of affairs had been given to the United States in connection with its naval construction programme. He said that the under secretary replied that no official communication had been made as there was no reason to believe that the reasonable parties were in any doubt regarding the truth of the matter.

Millions Spent for Housing.

Ottawa.—A total of almost eleven and three-quarter millions was advanced by the Federal Government to provincial boards of health during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1920. Of this amount, Ontario received $8,500,000; Manitoba, $1,500,000; British Columbia, $1,500,000; New Brunswick, $600,000; and Quebec, $600,000.

U. S. Has Standing Invitation

League of Nations Executive Explains Situation Re Mandates.

Paris.—In its reply to the United States note regarding the mandates for the former German colonies, the League of Nations executive committee last week made public the text of which was made public, the Executive Council of the League of Nations says: "The Council not only welcomes but feels justified in claiming the sympathy and support of the states and peoples of the world, whose the council is required to administer."

Regarding the fundamental constitution of the United States that the approval of the United States is essential to the validity of any determinations respecting mandates, the council declared that the United States required as one of the leading actors in the war and the peace negotiations are not likely to be challenged in any quarter. It points out, however, how the situation is complicated by the fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty and has not taken a seat in the Council of the League.

The note invites the United States to participate in the discussion of the coming meeting of the council in April, when final decisions are to be made regarding the "class A" and "class B" mandates.

The council reminds the State of California that the allocation of the Pacific islands in the Pacific allocated to Japan, made by the League of Nations is not concerned with the allocation but is only occupied with the direction of the islands.

The council adds that it has forwarded the United States note to the British, French, Italian and Japanese governments.

Russian Revolution

Unrest Among Workers in Russia Is Threatening the Soviet.

London.—The Soviet received in official British circles from dispatches telling of an anti-Soviet rising in Russia. "Our revolution is in danger," Russia is serious. The latest official Soviet state, however, did not indicate that the Soviet Government had been resolved.

"It is really reported," the dispatch says, "that very many have been killed or wounded on both sides in street fighting and that there has been considerable property damage. The naval garrison at Kronstadt has joined the rebels."

Reports of the revolution in Moscow are meager, doubtless owing to censorship. One message indicates that large numbers of foreign officers of the Russian army are leading the insurgents there.

In Petrograd the military cadets, who have been among the most reliable supporters of Soviet rule, suffered heavy casualties. Combined forces of laborers and marines, when they were further service men attacked the cadets, drove them through the streets to the schools and quays, where they were being held by Soviet reinforcements were rushed up.

Liquor Dispensary and Drunkenness

Port Arthur, Ont.—Port Arthur cadets of drunkenness handled by the Port Arthur police jumped in February to a total of 68 from the previous monthly average of 42. Chief T. P. Williams said that this is coincident with the opening of a liquor dispensary at Port William.

German People Fail To Realize Extent Of Damage Wrought

The Yellow Peril

Canadians Must Help in Defense Against Oriental Problem.

Ottawa.—"One more war will be the last or one fight between the races and this would settle civilization and settle it for good," declared Major Anson, M.P., speaking in the House of Commons.

Major Anson was dealing with the Yellow Peril question, quoting statistics to the effect that the black races outnumbered the whites to the extent of two to one. Canada, he argued, could not afford to stand alone as a nation and must unite with other white countries to see that the European race did not disintegrate.

The Naval Question

Admiral Aldrich Claims Dominance Should Contribute More to the Navy.

London.—Urging that the Imperial Government make an immediate statement of its naval intentions, Admiral Aldrich, speaking in the House of Commons, declared that since the expiration of Australia and New Zealand no decision was making an adequate contribution to the naval defence of the Empire. The dominions, he said, should contribute two-thirds of the costs of the Empire's navy, but India contributed ninety-five, Canada's navy was a housewife's fare and South Africa's contribution was ridiculous in view of her trade, and the great navigation in the admiralty said no statement on the naval part of the government could be made until the estimates were presented.

Bad Year for Savings

Savings Deposits in the Government Bank Reported to be Decreasing.

Ottawa.—Total deposits amounting to $483,342.75 were at the credit of depositors in the Post Office and Government savings banks on March 31, 1920, for the year ending that date. The report shows a decrease of $1,376,451.12 was added for accrued interest.

U. S. To Bury Unidentified Soldier.

Washington.—The House last night adopted a resolution directing the war department to bring back from France the body of an unidentified soldier and to inter it with suitable ceremonies in Arlington cemetery.

Quebec Member Criticises the Government

Ernest La Pointe, of Quebec East, Is Quite Strong in His Denunciation.

Ottawa.—"Those who pretend to rule this country," dramatically exclaimed, Ernest La Pointe in the House of Commons, "have no right to represent it at the coming Imperial conference, and we shall not consider ourselves bound to regard any resolutions by any of the decisions arrived at there."

Mr. La Pointe is the leader of the Pro-Chaplin Liberals from Quebec and now represents the division of Quebec East, which Sir Wilfrid Laurier represented so long. He was speaking at the time of the conference of overseas premiers called in London for next June, and his decision following an arrangement of the government's right to remain in office. The Opposition, he said, would not be represented at the conference.

Chaired by Liberals again and again, Mr. La Pointe quoted a formidable array of British constitutional authorities to support the position demand for a dissolution of parliament. The authority of a gov-

London.—Commenting on the war indemnity demanded by the Allies, Lloyd George said:

"The German people are under the impression that, the demands of the allies represent 'insolent oppression, designed to destroy their country and their people.'"

"Let me say we regard Germany as essential to civilization, a free press, democracy and justice. We simply ask Germany to discharge the obligations she entered into and repair the injuries inflicted by the war which her government is responsible for provoking."

"We are not asking for the costs of the war. The charges on the allies were so enormous it would be impossible to ask a single country to pay them. They have insisted that Germany pay reparations with respect to the charges cast upon the respective countries by military, financial and industrial losses upon the lives and limbs of their inhabitants."

Lloyd George gave figures of the budgets of the allied countries and asked: "What is there comparable in the German budget to this?"

He said he believed that when the German people realized the extent of the devastation wrought their attitude would change. "An incredible amount of damage had been done despite the view of destroying the essential means of production of France and Belgium," Lloyd George declared, adding, "There is no reparation is made by Germany. It means the victors will pay the bill for the damage done, the vanquished reap the fruits of victory."

"France alone, Great Britain alone, in this respect, each bears an annual burden of $1,000,000,000. It is about twice the amount of the whole payment now offered by Germany to meet our claims of reparation," Lloyd George declared.

The war criminals have not been tried, the Premier asserted, and military and naval operations have been open and some of these conditions have been allowed to spring up in the German country, equipped with arms which ought to have been surrendered.

Manitoba Liquor Question

No More Referendums in Sight for Manitoba This Session.

Winnipeg.—Premier T. C. Norris announced in the legislature that the government had no intention of bringing another referendum on the liquor question, providing for another referendum on the temperance question. No amendment to the liquor act was contemplated, he added. The amendment was made in reply to a question by J. T. Hogg, leader of the Conservative group.

U. S. Honors Unknown Dead.

Washington.—The House has adopted a resolution authorizing the congressional medal of honor be conferred upon an unidentified British and an unidentified French soldier buried respectively in Westminster Abbey and at the foot of the Ark of Triumph in Paris.

More German Camouflage Urge Removal of Embargo

Hamburg, South American Boats Now Sail Under Flag of Argentina.

London.—Sir Frederick Hall, in the House of Commons, today advised the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs that he was aware that five German steamers trading with Argentina and belonging to the Hamburg-South American Company, had been transferred to a new Argentine Company formed for the purpose of avoiding the surrender of vessels to the Allied reparations commission.

Sir Frederick demanded to know whether the proposed transfer of South American would not suffer if the Germans were allowed thus to evade the treaty stipulations and asked what steps the Allies proposed to take to meet matters.

Arthur Stanley Wilson, replying, said the situation was being watched. The steamers were declared, were under the Argentine flag and that Sir Frederick Hall must realize that the question was a constant delicate one since Argentina was not a signatory of the peace treaty.

A TAX PAYER

Dear Mr. Editor: If you will allow me a small amount of space in your paper I should like to ask our present Council of the Municipal District of Harmony 128, who are elected by the ratepayers of the District to levy taxes and expend the same to the best interests of the people who pay these taxes and in accordance with their own judgment, if this course is better than the present one?

My opinion is that it is not. In fact I am sure, knowing all of these gentlemen as I do to be successful men in their own business, that they should be desired to serve the ratepayers who elected them to this position to their best interest.

When looking up your spring requirements remember your Farmhold at Moffatt's.

Roy Locke returned from New York Wash, where he has spent the winter, on Thursday morning. He reports Mrs. Locke and baby doing well but now claims the boy weighed 9 lbs., instead of eight as stated in last week's issue.

An instance of unnecessary waste the loose leaf binders used in this vicinity are a splendid illustration. They are just sufficiently different to necessitate special ruling and punching for each individual order for refilling. The consequence is that the cost to the owners is increased about twenty-five per cent, not to mention express charges. If a standard size of binder was in use the saving would keep the merchants who use them in almost all other kinds of stationery.

The U.F.A. Local And Men's Wages

Unfortunately there seems to be some misunderstanding concerning the motion on wages of farm help passed at the last meeting of the Champion U.F.A. Local. Now, the U.F.A. is not organizing to fight labor and Champion Local is certainly not trying to set the price of farm labor in this district. But it has approved a plan that should be satisfactory to both the farmers and laboring men.

The representatives of the Government Employment Bureau are holding a convention at Regina and they have asked the U. F. A. organization to send a representative to the convention. Central office then sent a circular letter to each of the locals asking them to discuss and report to central what in their judgment the wages for farm help should be placed at up to harvest time. Thus the U. F. A. representative at the convention in Regina will have a definite knowledge of what the Farmers of Alberta consider they can pay for help.

Acting on a plan suggested in the letter Champion local passed a motion approving of $40.00 a month as a minimum and further agreeing with the men where possible that they should receive an additional $5.00 per month for each one percent profit that the farmer makes over 5 per cent profit on investment in land and equipment.

The U.F.A. recognizes that the farmer must pay sufficient wages to attract what help he requires also every farmer knows that under the present uncertain conditions he cannot afford to pay the price for labor that he has been paying. Unless he does get a crop. Considering the present labor conditions it seems very probable that plenty of farm labor can be secured at $40.00 a month and board with an agreement to pay more if a good crop is raised.
